

DAAN

I'm Daan van den Hurk, a multidisciplinary designer with a passion for visual storytelling, motion design and film. I like to call myself a Lucky Bird, because somehow, saying yes to things has taken me to incredible places and experiences I could never have planned.

What started as simply being bad at saying no has become a mindset: stay curious, take chances and figure things out along the way. It's a philosophy I bring into both life and my creative work.

Projects / Adventures

African Heart Expedition
Personal project · 20 African countries · 4.5 months
2026

Drove a Land Cruiser from Rwanda to the Netherlands with two friends, crossing 20 African countries along the way. We documented the journey through social media, while I captured the bigger story on camera for an upcoming mini-documentary.
